

AGED CARE 2.0

NEW WAYS OF KNOWING AND ACTING

Wednesday, September 18, 2pm-4pm
Level 1, 75 Talavera Rd, Macquarie University, NSW, 2109

SPEAKERS

Setting the scene

PROFESSOR ANDREW GEORGIU

Centre for Health Systems and Safety Research, Australian Institute of Health Innovation, Macquarie University

Professor Georgiou is a health informatics researcher with a strong international research profile in the areas of outcome measurement, aged care informatics, quality and safety, diagnostic informatics and organisational communications research.

MS TERRIE LEOLEOS

Ethics Community Council of NSW

With over 22 years' experience in the community care sector, Ms Leoleos is driven by her passion and commitment to community harmony, social cohesion and celebrating older adults' cultural diversity.

DR MEREDITH GRESHAM

University of New South Wales / Former Head of Research and Design, HammondCare

Dr Gresham is an Occupational Therapist and has been involved in research and intervention across the course of dementia from post diagnosis education with family carers and reablement for people with dementia to improve the end-of-life experience. She has long experience in the design of the physical environment for people with dementia, including the use of novel bidet technology.

PROFESSOR JULIE BYLES

Global Innovation Chair in Responsive Transitions in Health and Ageing, University of Newcastle

Professor Byles has expertise in risk determination, assessment, screening and diagnostic tests, and measurement of health outcomes. Her research interests include the role of health services, preventive activities, and treatments in maintaining quality of life for older people.

PANEL

Driving the conversation for quality aged care

A/PROFESSOR DENISE JEPSEN

Chair, Macquarie Ageing and Aged Care Researchers Network (MAACRN)

PROFESSOR JOHANNA WESTBROOK

Director, Centre for Health Systems and Safety Research, Australian Institute of Health Innovation, Macquarie University

MS CARRIE HAYTER

Managing Director, Carrie Hayter Consulting and Co-Chair NSW Division, Australian Association of Gerontology